Transformational Leadership Academy for Advancing Health and Safety

Are you ready to transform your health and safety leadership skills?

Now more than ever, effective leadership skills among occupational health and safety and public health professionals are essential to building safety culture in our workplaces and keeping our communities safe and healthy. With today's evolving landscape, health and safety leaders are looking for new ways to go beyond developing technical abilities and are shifting the focus to motivating themselves and others to act as 'change agents' for reducing worker illnesses and injuries in their organizations.

This 11-session, 6 month Transformational Leadership Academy was designed by and for health and safety professionals and is based on over 20 years of research. The Academy is a partnership between the University of Washington Foster School of Business Center for Leadership and Strategic Thinking (CLST), and the Northwest Center for Occupational Health and Safety Education and Research Center.

The Transformational Leadership Academy will guide you through developing and executing a Leadership Development Action Plan personalized to your strengths, opportunities, and leadership goals. Academy curriculum derived from a proven, research-based blueprint developed by CLST, will equip you with the leadership tools necessary to address health and safety concerns, create positive change, and foster a strong safety culture.

As an Academy participant, you will have the opportunity to put leadership concepts, models, frameworks, and tools to practice in your workplace by completing an action learning project. During the action learning project, you will engage in leadership and positive behaviors in your workplace with the support of the Academy instructor from the UW Foster School of Business.

All aspects of the Transformational Leadership Academy will be delivered remotely. Live, interactive video conference sessions will allow you to practice and develop your skills with active feedback in small groups and support from your professional leadership coach.

"Now is the perfect time for developing additional leadership skills. The assessments I took during the course allowed me to gain a 360 perspective and contrast how others saw me compared to how I viewed myself. Taking time to discuss with others and reflect upon the building blocks that got me where I am, allowed me to gain insights on what I may need and/or choose to work on move forward. This has made me more intentional not only in my own professional development, but how I interact, motivate, and develop others - a critical need in these challenging times we find ourselves living."

- Ann Lindsey, Transformational Leadership Academy development committee member, and participant in previous transformational leadership training.
